Rolls-Royce Phantom VI

Description

This Rolls-Royce Phantom VI Mulliner Park Ward limousine was built in 1968 by Rolls-Royce Motor Cars, and bodied as many of these were with a Mulliner Park Ward four door limousine body. It seats five in the rear, three on the back and two on occasional seats, and one in the front.

This is the vehicle type used by The Duchess of Cambridge, Princess Catherine, on her marriage to Prince William, The Duke of Cambridge.

Interior

The luscious rear compartment can seat up to five in real luxury. It has traditional burred walnut waist rails, window surrounds, and a full cocktail cabinet.

During the wedding of Wills and Kate, Kate Middleton and her father travelled from the Goring Hotel to Westminster Abbey in a car with an identical interior.

The front compartment is separated by an electric glass division, and can seat an additional passenger if required.

Exterior

The limousine is finished in traditional masons black with a hand painted gold fine line running the length of the car. It has chrome plated bumpers and bright work, and a 'number one' registration.

Engine

The 6.75 litre V8 engine that Rolls-Royce employed from 1958 and is still used in the brand new Bentley Mulsanne which has now been released. On this car the engine is combined with a three speed automatic gearbox.
